

National Agri-Marketing Association

Agribusiness Leader of the Year

About the Award

The National Agri-Marketing Association (NAMA) honors outstanding leadership in agribusiness, education, government service or other agribusiness related areas by awarding the Agribusiness Leader of the Year. This award will attract agribusiness leaders and leaders in private, public or academic service.

Objective

The Agribusiness Leader of the Year is NAMA's highest honor. The award honors an outstanding leader in agribusiness, education, government service or other agribusiness related area. Solicited from senior level position holders in private, public or academic service, nominees should exemplify excellence in agribusiness by their significant contributions to the industry. The award is presented during the spring Agri-Marketing Conference.

Eligibility

Individuals must demonstrate leadership and innovation at the most senior level.

This award goes to the person leading the charge of his/her company, institution or organization. Nominee exemplifies the qualities of a true leader and is a visionary, a pacesetter, and a colleague with business know-how. This nominee has led the company/institution/organization during the past 12 months. In addition, nominees should be considered leaders in agribusiness through service to organization and industry initiatives.

Nominees need not be NAMA members.

How to Enter

To enter, follow these steps:

1. Select a nominee. This nominee should exemplify the qualities of a true leader. Consult the eligibility requirements closely.
2. Fill out the application on the back of this page and then address the four areas of outstanding leadership on a separate sheet(s) of paper. Include your contact information, if NAMA has questions regarding the application, the nominator will be contacted. All nominations will be kept confidential. Nominees not honored for 2010 will be automatically considered for next year.
3. Include a black and white photo of the nominee. These will not be returned.
4. Send the application, narrative and photos to NAMA by January 15, 2010.

Nominees will be judged solely on their write-ups. Please do not send any other appendices, video-tapes, or samples. There are no entry fees. For questions about the entry rules, contact Jenny Pickett at (913) 491-6500.

Nomination

All nominations will be considered. The National Agri-Marketing Association's Professional Awards Committee will establish a nominating panel comprised of industry leaders to review submissions. The panel will ensure that nominees are eligible and all application materials are included. This nominating panel will review submissions and may also exercise the option of surfacing nominees. Those surfaced by the panel will be notified and asked to submit a nomination application.
